Beyond the Acts: Destinies & Dust; Acts 13:44-52

_____ (as it exists right now) as a place is not our ultimate goal.

In the resurrected Jesus, not only is humanity seen in _____ relationship with God, but the old creation of his crucified body has been swallowed up by the _____ of His resurrected body.

1. αἰών - aion - “_____ or _____”

2. ζωή - zoe - “_____”

ζωὴν αἰώνιον - “_____”

When we cling to the life we've known, rejecting _____ instead of receiving the New Creation life and healing offered to us, we reveal ourselves as choosing to remain _____.

This is the heart of God - to bring _____ to all.

The good news of resurrection life in Jesus isn't just about what has happened, or about what will happen - it's good news about what IS happening _____ by the power and presence of His Spirit.

Are we leveraging our positions of power and influence - whether titles, dollars in the bank, or followers - for the purposes of God's _____ coming (for all)? Or are we attempting to protect the ways of an _____ we have benefited from in the past?

The worlds' response to the Love of Jesus through us is not where we draw our _____.

Part of our vocation is to live in that tension of “caring for”, but not “_____”.
